

Khloé Kardashian turned down Tristan Thompson's secret proposal pre-scandal

Price Rs. 10

FOUNDED BY (LATE) KAZI SAEED AKBAR & (Late) Kazi Jawad Akbar
PUBLISHED SIMULTANEOUSLY FROM KARACHI and HYDERABAD

The only comprehensive English daily with a regional perspective

The REGIONAL TIMES OF Sindh

Uniting People Every Day

KATT's employee verification system will help in reducing crime: IG Sindh Police

HEARTLAND

Prof Hakim Ali Abro assumes charge as Acting VC SMBBMU

Money

PSE 100-index down by 421.27 points to close at 41,013.86

NATIONAL

Government must take action against Imran for 'playing with national security': Javed Latif

SPORTS

'Wasim Akram, Shoaib Akhtar, I need your support' says Usman Wazeer

KARACHI Edition Vol. XV No 311 Regd. No. 113 visit us at www.regionaltimes.com

Friday, September 30, 2022, Rabi Ul Awwal 3, 1444 A.H 8 Pages

CIRCULATION CERTIFIED BY ABC

EFP, ILO seminar emphasizes need to combat gender discrimination in agriculture sector

KARACHI: Maintaining a balance between rights and duties of landlords and farmers is a prerequisite for addressing issues in the cotton supply chain." This was stated by Bhavani Shankar, senior scientist department of agriculture, the government of Sindh, who was speaking as the chief guest at the multi-stakeholder's seminar on gender discrimination at Mirpurkhas.

The seminar was organized by the Employers' Federation of Pakistan with technical assistance from ILO at a local hotel in Mirpurkhas under the project 'Promoting Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (FPRW) in the cotton Supply Chain.'

Gulfaam Nabi Mohammad, former joint director of labor government of Sindh, in his presentation explained various dimensions of gender discrimination in the cotton supply chain and generated an informative discussion among the participants on issues and challenges faced by workers in the cotton supply chain.

The seminar was attended by over a hundred participants; 60% were drawn from women and representatives from Mirpurkhas landlord association, government, academia, cotton-growing communities, and media also attended the seminar.

Earlier, Fasihul Karim Siddiqui, senior advisor EFP welcomed the participants and explained the objectives of the seminar. Ijaz Ahmed, National project coordinator of ILO while addressing the gathering explained the ILO's project on promoting FPRW in the cotton supply chain and facilitating the group discussion.

During the group discussion, the participants highlighted the challenges, opportunities, and gender-based needs in the context of COVID-19, which have been further accentuated by the impact of recent rains and floods in the province.

The seminar improved the understanding of the participants on gender-based discrimination. Towards the conclusion of the seminar, a collective bargaining agreement was signed between the Mirpurkhas employers (small landlords) association and their farmers and workers. The agreement focused on their mutual collaboration to facilitate the restoration of agricultural activity after the havoc created by rains and floods in Mirpurkhas. The agreement also resolved to promote FPRWs in the cotton Supply chain and resolved for joint efforts to improve agricultural productivity so that its benefits can be used to ensure the social protection of workers and improvement of their working conditions, health, and safety. Maula Buksh Laghari, President Mirpurkhas small landlords association assured that the members of his association and their workers will jointly work to improve the provisions of the Agreement.

Siddiqui congratulated the landlord's association for entering into the landmark venture of the collective bargaining activity and hope that this will create a new history of growth in the cotton supply chain through employer-worker partnership. The meeting concluded with a note of thanks from Ubaidullah Kori.—RT/Agency

EFP, ILO seminar emphasizes combating gender discrimination in agricultural economy

KARACHI: Maintaining a balance between rights and duties of landlords and farmers is a prerequisite for addressing issues in the cotton supply chain." This was stated by Bhavani Shankar, senior scientist department of agriculture, the government of Sindh; who was speaking as the chief guest at the multi-stakeholder's seminar on gender discrimination at Mirpurkhas.

The seminar was organized by the Employers' Federation of Pakistan with technical assistance from ILO at a local hotel in Mirpurkhas under the project "Promoting Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (FPRW) in the cotton Supply Chain."

Gulfaam Nabi Mohammad, former joint director of labor government of Sindh, in his presentation explained various dimensions of gender discrimination in the cotton supply chain and generated an informative discussion among the participants on issues and challenges faced by workers in the cotton supply chain.

The seminar was attended by over a hundred participants; 60% were drawn from women and representatives from Mirpurkhas landlord association, government, academia, cotton-growing communities, and media also attended the seminar.

Earlier, Fasihul Karim Siddiqui, senior advisor EFP welcomed the participants and explained the objectives of the seminar. Ijaz Ahmed, National project coordinator of ILO while addressing the gathering explained the ILO's project on promoting FPRW in the cotton supply chain and facilitating the group discussion.

During the group discussion, the participants highlighted the challenges, opportunities, and gender-based needs in the context of COVID-19, which have been further accentuated by the impact of recent rains and floods in the province.

The seminar improved the understanding of the participants on gender-based discrimination.

Towards the conclusion of the seminar, a collective bargaining agreement was signed between the Mirpurkhas employers (small landlords) association and their farmers and workers. The agreement focused on their mutual collaboration to facilitate the restoration of agricultural activity after the havoc created by rains and floods in Mirpurkhas.

The agreement also resolved to promote FPRWs in the cotton Supply chain and resolved for joint efforts to improve agricultural productivity so that its benefits can be used to ensure the social protection of workers and improvement of their working conditions, health, and safety.

Maula Buksh Laghari, President Mirpurkhas small landlord's association assured that the members of his association and their workers will jointly work to improve the provisions of the Agreement.

Siddiqui congratulated the landlord's association for entering into the landmark venture of the collective bargaining activity and hope that this will create a new history of growth in the cotton supply chain through employer-worker partnership. The meeting concluded with a note of thanks from Ubaidullah Kori.

EFP, ILO seminar emphasizes combating gender discrimination in the agricultural economy focusing cotton supply chain.

Maintaining a balance between rights and duties of landlords and farmers is a prerequisite for addressing issues in the cotton supply chain." This was stated by Bhavani Shankar, senior scientist department of agriculture, the government of Sindh; who was speaking as the chief guest at the multi-stakeholder's seminar on gender discrimination at Mirpurkhas.

The seminar was organized by the Employers' Federation of Pakistan with technical assistance from ILO at a local hotel in Mirpurkhas under the project "Promoting Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (FPRW) in the cotton Supply Chain."

Gulfaam Nabi Mohammad, former joint director of labor government of Sindh, in his presentation explained various dimensions of gender discrimination in the cotton supply chain and generated an informative discussion among the participants on issues and challenges faced by workers in the cotton supply chain.

The seminar was attended by over a hundred participants; 60% were drawn from women and representatives from Mirpurkhas landlord association, government, academia, cotton-growing communities, and media also attended the seminar.

Earlier, Fasihul Karim Siddiqui, senior advisor EFP welcomed the participants and explained the objectives of the seminar. Ijaz Ahmed, National project coordinator of ILO while addressing the gathering explained the ILO's project on promoting FPRW in the cotton supply chain and facilitating the group discussion.

During the group discussion, the participants highlighted the challenges, opportunities, and gender-based needs in the context of COVID-19, which have been further accentuated by the impact of recent rains and floods in the province.

The seminar improved the understanding of the participants on gender-based discrimination.

Towards the conclusion of the seminar, a collective bargaining agreement was signed between the Mirpurkhas employers (small landlords) association and their farmers and workers. The agreement focused on their mutual collaboration to facilitate the restoration of agricultural activity after the havoc created by rains and floods in Mirpurkhas.

The agreement also resolved to promote FPRWs in the cotton Supply chain and resolved for joint efforts to improve agricultural productivity so that its benefits can be used to ensure the social protection of workers and improvement of their working conditions, health, and safety.

Maula Buksh Laghari, President Mirpurkhas small landlord's association assured that the members of his association and their workers will jointly work to improve the provisions of the Agreement.

Siddiqui congratulated the landlord's association for entering into the landmark venture of the collective bargaining activity and hope that this will create a new history of growth in the cotton supply chain through employer-worker partnership. The meeting concluded with a note of thanks from Ubaidullah Kori.

The Financial Daily

Simultaneously Published from Karachi and Lahore International

Li Bijian is to preside over 73rd founding anniversary function KEC is hosting

KARACHI: Li Bijian, Consul General of China at Karachi will preside over the ceremony to celebrate the 73rd founding anniversary of the People's Republic of China to be organized by Karachi Editors Club (KEC) in association with Adpulse IMC Pvt Ltd at a local hotel, here today (Thursday). Irfan Wahid CEO of OFS Builders will be the chief guest on this occasion while Haji Muhammad Raquie Pardesi, Lt. Gen (Retd) Moimuddin See#23 Page7

Inside Pages:

- #2: World Maritime Day 2022 mega event
- #3: Foodpanda, Coca-Cola ink long-term partnership
- #4: Shehbaz urges world reverse 'injustice'
- #4: Pledge for a green transition of Maritime sector

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 2022

Rabi ul Awal - 2

Vol#16 Issue#49

Pages 8

Rs 20

KARACHI EDITION

EFP, ILO seminar stresses combating discrimination of gender in agri economy

KARACHI: Maintaining a balance between rights and duties of landlords and farmers is a prerequisite for addressing issues in the cotton supply chain. This was stated by Bhavani Shankar, senior scientist department of agriculture, the government of Sindh, who was speaking as the chief guest at the multi-stakeholder's seminar on gender discrimination at Mirpur Khas.

The seminar was organized by the Employers' Federation of Pakistan with technical assistance from ILO at a local hotel in Mirpur Khas under the project "Promoting Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (FPRW) in the cotton Supply Chain."

Gulfaan Nabi Mohammad, former joint director of labor government of Sindh, in his presentation explained various dimensions of gender discrimination in the cotton supply chain and generated an informative discussion among the participants on issues and challenges faced by workers in the cotton supply chain.

The seminar was attended by over a hundred participants, 60% were drawn from women and representatives from Mirpur Khas landlord association, government, academia, cotton-growing communities, and media also attended the seminar.

Earlier, Fasihul Karim Siddiqui, senior advisor EFP welcomed the participants and explained the objectives of the seminar. Ijaz Ahmed, National project coordinator of ILO while addressing the gathering explained the ILO's project on promoting FPRW in the cotton supply chain and facilitating the group discussion.

During the group discussion, the participants highlighted the challenges, opportunities, and gender-based needs in the context of COVID-19, which have been further accentuated by the impact of recent rains and floods in the province.

The seminar improved the understanding of the participants on gender-based discrimination.

Towards the conclusion of the seminar, a collective bargaining agreement was signed between the Mirpur Khas employers (small landlords) association and their farmers and workers. The agreement focused on their mutual collaboration to facilitate the restoration of agricultural activity after the havoc created by rains and floods in Mirpur Khas.

See#5 Page7

No #5

Continued from page 2

The agreement also resolved to promote FPRWs in the cotton Supply chain and resolved for joint efforts to improve agricultural productivity so that its benefits can be used to ensure the social protection of workers and improvement of their working conditions, health, and safety.

Maula Huksh Laghari, President Mirpur Khas small landlord's association assured that the members of his association and their workers will jointly work to improve the provisions of the Agreement.

Siddiqui congratulated the landlord's association for entering into the landmark venture of the collective bargaining activity and hope that this will create a new history of growth in the cotton supply chain through employer-worker partnership. The meeting concluded with a note of thanks from Ubaidullah Kori.

ABC
CERTIFIED

کراچی، حب، حیدرآباد، سکھر سے بیک وقت شائع ہونے والا اخبار

http://www.juraat.com

سالانہ
35-028
پتہ
کراچی
نمبر
340

جلد 27 جہاز 2 / ربیع الاول 1444ھ / 29 ستمبر 2022 شمارہ نمبر 158

چیف
محمد طاہر مہر
تلفون: 021-32628111-3

ای ایف بی، ای ایل او کا زرعی معیشت میں صنعتی امتیاز پر سیمینار
سیمینار میں خواتین سمیت، زمینداروں، کاشتکاروں سمیت 100 افراد کی شرکت
کراچی (اسٹاف رپورٹ) سیکرٹری سائنس اور ماہانہ جرنل
مجلس نے کہا ہے کہ سیمینار میں کاشتکاروں کے حقوق
اور فلاح کے دو مہم جوئیوں پر غور و فکر کیا گیا
کی بنیادی جگہ کے مسائل کو حل کرنے کیلئے ایک
شرافہ ہے۔ یہ بات سیمینار میں بطور مہمان خصوصی
خطاب کرتے ہوئے کی۔ سیمینار کا انعقاد ای
ایف بی نے ایف جی لیبر آرگنائزیشن (ای ایف جی
ایف بی) کی تکنیکی معاونت سے کراچی سیمینار میں
بانیہ افسانوں اور کام کے حقوق (ایف بی آر
ایف بی آر) کو فروغ دینے کے مقصد سے منعقد کیا تھا

مقامی جرنل کے ایڈیٹر کی رہنمائی میں کراچی
مجلس نے ایف بی کے ایف جی لیبر آرگنائزیشن میں کراچی
مجلس میں صنعتی امتیاز کی مختلف جگہوں کی وضاحت
کی اور کراچی سیمینار میں کراچی کے کراچی
مجلس اور کراچی لیبر آرگنائزیشن کے کراچی